Timber sales may relieve ski hill debt

TERRACE — The large recreational reserve area surrounding the Kitsumkalum Ski Hill may be logged to help pay off part of the community ski operation's capital debt. The idea received endorsement from Terrace city council at a meeting held Oct. 27, but its finalization will depend on a decision by the Ministry of Forests and Lands.

The concept was originally proposed by the administration of the Kitimat-Stikine Regional District to the Terrace Tourism and Economic Advisory Committee, and afterward the Minister of Forests and Lands, Jack Kempf, was approached. Further progress has been delayed, however, by the intervention of the provincial election. Although the Omineca constituency has re-elected Kempf, Premier Vander Zalm recently stated he will not make any cabinet appointments until the final results of the Section 80 (unregistered) vote are in and the membership of the legislature officially confirmed. The Chief Electoral Officer will announce the final count on Nov. 4, and Vander Zalm is expected to reveal his cabinet roster on Nov. 15.

When the electorate involved in the regional district ski hill function voted this summer to close Kitsumkalum Mountain, the regional district withdrew from the operation and jurisdiction over the recreational reserve property around the mountain was returned to the Lands Branch. It was expected at that time that the land would remain a recreational reserve, but the Lands Branch also has the option of transferring jurisdiction to the Forest Service, in which case it could be included in the annual allowable cut for the Kalum Forest District.

Ald. Robert Cooper said at the Oct. 27 council meeting that if the land could be withheld from the allowable cut it could be logged by someone other than a tree farm licensee and the profits applied to the $6 million capital debt left over from the ski hill operation. Cooper said the size of the area to be harvested and the potential revenue cannot be determined until a logging plan is established, and the plan will not be drawn up until ministerial approval is obtained.

Skeena elects Dave Parker

TERRACE — Voters in the Skeena riding mirrored a provincial trend Oct. 22 in both their selection of a majority party candidate and percentage of votes for the two major political parties. Social Credit candidate Dave Parker, a Terrace school trustee in his first provincial campaign, defeated veteran NDP incumbent Frank Howard by an unofficial margin of 1,157 votes. Skeena will return a Social Credit member to the legislature for the first time since 1975 when Cyril Shelford was elected to represent the riding.

The composition of the legislature is currently projected to be 49 Social Credit members and 20 NDP members, but an extraordinarily high number of Section 80 (unregistered) ballots coupled with narrow margins of counted votes place the results in thirteen ridings in doubt. Parker's victory in Skeena appears to be secure according to electoral officer Barbara McGowan, who speculated that there are fewer than 1,000 Section 80 votes to be counted in the riding. Official results will not be announced until Nov. 4 because the names of unregistered voters have to be compared to names on the registration list to ensure that no one voted twice.

Parker received a total of 7,182 votes for 49.28 percent of the 14,572 ballots cast in Skeena. Frank Howard got 6,025 votes for 41.37 percent. The Skeena popular vote percentage matched almost exactly the overall results in B.C., which came to 49.7 percent for Social Credit and 42.2 percent for the NDP. The vote for other parties exceeded the provincial average, with Liberal William Hayes garnering 717 votes for 4.9 percent and Independent Gordon Sebastian getting 648 votes for 4.4 percent. Names in for school, council civic elections

TERRACE — At the close of nominations on Oct. 27, Returning Officer Murdo MacDonald reported that four candidates filed for election to Terrace City Council for three available aldermanic seats. They are incumbents Robert Cooper, Robert Jackman and Doug Smith; and Terrace ironworker Graham Geeraert. The election will take place Nov. 15, with advance polls Nov. 7 at the Terrace Municipal Hall from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Nov. 14 at Mills Memorial Hospital from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Returning Officer Elaine Johnson reported that seven nominations were filed for three available positions as school trustee. They are incumbent Laverne Hislop, present chairman of the school board and a homemaker; Bev Mackie, a housewife; Barbara Ross, a finance clerk; Francis Sabine, a college counsellor; Wallace Schmidt, a superintendent; and George Stanley, a college instructor. The school trustee elections will take place on the same date as the elections to Terrace council; advance polls will also be taken on the same dates and times and in the same locations.

Watch the Nov. 5 issue of the Terrace Review for detailed profiles of all candidates in the civic and school elections.

Dell Rema passes away

TERRACE — Dell Rema, born Feb. 7, 1915, passed away Oct. 19 at Mills Memorial Hospital in Terrace after a long fight with cancer. He was 71.

by Suzy Hamilton
Terrace Contributor

Dell, one of five brothers, was born in Alvadore, Oregon. He met Illeen Snyder in nearby Myrtle Point where they were married in 1937. After a successful career in sales in Oregon and California, Dell brought his wife and three sons to Smithers in 1967. There, he owned and operated Rema's Auto Wrecking at Evelyn Station for six years. In 1974 he and Illeen moved 40 km east of Terrace to homestead land on the Skeena River where he spent the rest of his life.

Dell's friends will miss his ready wit and elaborate stories. He loved to teach and there were messages in his stories for every listener. He was in love with life, ready for a good time, and full of kindness.

As a trapper, a pursuit he cherished throughout his life, he was careful to tend his line with an eye to the future. Dell always left enough animals to provide for tomorrow. Many of his friends benefitted from his willingness to "doctor" them; he eased pain and comforted in the manner of a true practitioner.

Dell believed in solving problems through his own actions. As much as he loved to "gab", he Fire Chief Clifford Best said the carburetor fire was put out quickly with no injuries resulting.

prized the excitement of life and work more. When he played his squeeze box and harmonica, heads turned and toes tapped. Playing them both at the same time was a mean trick, but Illeen was there to make it possible. Their love for one another enriched everyone they met.

Dell was a man of vision. He could accomplish anything he tackled, could invent new ways to overcome obstacles, and combine it all with a "gift of gab" that endeared him to his many friends across Canada and the United States.

He is survived by his wife, Illeen; three of his four sons, Ben and his wife Angi of Mt. Albert, Ont., Alvie of Topley, and Rex and his wife Sherry of Terrace; four grandchildren, Jeanne, Mike, Jesse, and Tom; and one great grandchild, Eddie. He is also survived by two brothers, Warren Rema of Blue Lake, California, and Zane Rema of Powers, Oregon.

Funeral services were held at the Salvation Army Chapel in Terrace on Oct. 23. Dell Rema was buried at the Terrace and District Cemetery.

Community plan hearing continues

THORNHILL — According to the 1984 figures there are about 2,500 people living in the area affected by the Greater Terrace Official Community Plan. A series of information meetings and an extended public hearing have brought out between 200 and 300 interested residents of the area who have filed a variety of general criticisms of the plan, and many of them have maintained that a community plan is unnecessary.

by Michael Kelly

The most recent public hearing session took place in the Thornhill Community Centre Oct. 15, attended by about 50 people. The hearing was conducted by a panel consisting of Bob Marcellin, assistant administrator for the Kitimat-Stikine Regional District, regional district board chairman Les Watmough, planning consultant Norma Kerby, regional district Terrace director Robert Cooper, and regional district assistant planner Tosh Yamashita.

Although many of the objections lodged at the meeting were repetitions of non-specific complaints about the escalation of government straight-jacketing heard at previous meetings, the Oct. 15 gathering also produced a number of written briefs directed at particular sections of the plan.

One submission called attention to the plan's expressed intent for permitting no residential subdivisions outside the Terrace North area until the subdividable land in that area is fully used. The brief was critical of the policy on several points, stating that developers in other areas would have to depend on the ambitions and capital abilities of Terrace North landowners, and that preference for one area would result in a distortion of real estate prices which would be harmful to landowners in other areas. The brief also questions the suitability of Terrace North in view of reported problems in obtaining reliable groundwater in some parts of the area.

The background studies for the community plan, completed in 1984, designate Terrace North as a preferred area for rural residential development due to minimal land use and environmental conflicts, few terrain hazards and nearness to the Terrace municipal boundaries. The ground water problem is acknowledged in the background studies, but the solution was anticipated by the logic of an eventual boundary expansion by Terrace. That eventuality was recently delayed for an indefinite period of time by a resolution of Terrace council rejecting a boundary expansion proposal.

The remainder of the written briefs addressed the designation of the Lakelse Lake-Lakelse River area as a Special Resource Management Area which would require site-specific development permits. All of the briefs contend that stringent enforcement of the present zoning regulation, regional district Bylaw 57, would provide adequate controls without the addition of further restrictions. One submission went further in requesting intensive wildlife management for the area and a 25-year moratorium on logging the slopes immediately east of the lake.

During the hearing process Dr. Norma Kerby has repeatedly stressed that the community plan, despite its designation as Bylaw 47, is not a zoning bylaw, but a guideline for land use. There have been numerous problems in the past with the existing zoning bylaws in the area, and Dr. Kerby indicated that it is time to re-examine the present regulations and replace them with something more comprehensive and foresighted. One resident maintained that the proliferation of bylaws is "insidious, they tie up everything in the community". He added that in his previous place of residence in Alberta "they even tell you what color to paint your house". Tosh Yamashita denied that the community plan bylaw would confer any such powers on the regional district, and he added that the development permit system would in fact give the regional district greater speed and flexibility in dealing with applications because the lengthy process of bylaw amendment would be eliminated.

In defense of the development permit system, Bob Marcellin added that blanket land use designations can be avoided in the environmentally-sensitive Lakelse Lake area. "At this time it's very difficult to say what future development should be," he told the group. "We

Chamber resolves to fight vandals

TERRACE — The escalating cost of wilful damage to local businesses has prompted the Terrace and District Chamber of Commerce to fight back. At a recent meeting of Chamber members, Terrace merchants Dick Sharples and Bob Park proposed the establishment of a reward fund for informants whose help leads to the arrest and conviction of vandals. The motion passed and was later ratified by the Chamber executive.

In putting forward the motion, Sharples noted that insurance claims for damages less than $10,000 aren't worth filing because of the resulting increases in insurance premiums. "We're being beaten to death by this," he stated, adding that 13 exterior lights on his establishment were recently destroyed.

The proposed reward was $250 for information, which would be confidential, leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone damaging a Chamber of Commerce member's business property. As an additional deterrent to would-be defacers, window-breakers and other impulsive-destructive types, each of the Chamber's member businesses will carry a prominent sign advertising the reward.

Terrace RCMP Cst. Ewen Harvie was present at the Chamber meeting, and he agreed that there is an ongoing problem in capturing people responsible for acts of vandalism. Harvie, however, maintained that public apathy in reporting incidents is a large part of the policing problem. "Here we have 25 policemen for a population of 10,000. That's 20,000 eyes, and it is continually amazing to me that nobody sees anything," he said. Harvie said that despite prominent attention given to vandalism in Terrace this year, the number of incidents are no higher than at this time in 1985. Harvie also pointed out that there is a certain amount of statistical distortion in the way police records have to be kept. Referring to a recent binge of tire-slashing in the downtown area, Harvie said that although the damage was a single protracted act by one or two criminals the records would show 68 separate incidents representing the actual number of tires knifed.

According to police profiles, the average Terrace-area vandal is 15 to 21 years of age, destroys property while in the company of a group of peers, and does so for the most part during the hours around closing time for bars and pubs. Harvie supported the reward proposal, but he also told Chamber members that School District 88 has had a similar system in place for ten years. During that period, he said, a total of ten rewards have been paid out. All of them have gone to students, and none have been claimed for the past two years.

"Thanks!"

"To all the people who worked so hard on my campaign, to all the people who supported me, a heartfelt 'thanks'! I couldn't have done it without you.

Having placed your confidence in me, I will work very hard to ensure that the next few years are good ones for our Riding.

If you have any inquiries or concerns, please call—I will be available to you. Until I establish my constituency office, I can be reached through Parker & Associates at 635-4215."

Letter — School spending questioned

To the editor

Where are our School District #88 school trustees really spending the money that is allocated to our children's education? A proposal presented at the regular meeting of the Terrace school trustees on Oct. 14, 1986, included spending $500 on supplementary materials for Physical Education 11/12 at both Skeena and Thornhill Secondary Schools. To my knowledge neither of the schools offers such a course since both schools enrol students to the Grade Ten level, and we can only assume such money will be spent elsewhere.

The same proposal included spending an additional $14,000 on supplementary materials for "other new programs". As taxpayers and parents, we are entitled to be informed as to which other new programs are to receive additional funding. Is such money perhaps intended to send a person to Toronto to learn how to attract "off-shore students" as was also decided at the same meeting?

Our children are in need of such money to be spent on resources they can use now. I am sure the provincial government had such a direction in mind when the funds were made available to the school districts. To bring our children's educational needs on line with those that are in demand in the labour market, money must be invested in their school system. We are making the investment through our taxes and want such money spent appropriately.

B.C.'s bet on casinos worth the gamble?

VICTORIA — I hope Premier Vander Zalm saw the recent U.S. Public Television production about Atlantic City's experience with gambling.

The program was a sobering account of how a city lost its bet on what it hoped would be a bright economic future.

Legalized gambling was to pull Atlantic City out of its economic doldrums, but the only ones who hit the jackpot were the casino operators.

The gambling fever failed to spread its benefits to the city at large. The expected economic boom never came.

But Vander Zalm seems convinced that British Columbia can succeed where Atlantic City failed. He's taken the first step towards adding a floating crap game to the province's economic diversification program.

Starting next summer, two ships plying the waters between Victoria and Seattle will have gambling casinos — slot machines, roulette, blackjack and all.

One of the vessels is the Princess Marguerite which has been a major economic factor in the Victoria tourism industry, bringing thousands of visitors to the capital city every year. She will be joined on the Victoria-Seattle run by the B.C. Ferry Corp. vessel Princess of Vancouver, to be modified at a cost of $3.5 million.

Both ships will have gambling casinos, and proceeds will go to the B.C. Steamship Corporation, the Crown agency which operates the vessels.

Reaction to the floating casino gamble has been mixed. Hotel operators are ecstatic because the second vessel to be added to the run will dock in Victoria overnight, leaving all those Yankee gamblers to look for a place to stay.

Some merchants are afraid, however, that the passengers will part with most of their disposable tourist dollars in the casinos, before they even arrive here.

But for better or worse, British Columbia's first two casinos will be open for business next summer. And from all indicators, that's only the start.

True to the promise he made during the leadership campaign, Premier Vander Zalm intends to take the gamble a step further. You can expect casinos in a number of locations during the next few years.

The first land-bound casino will probably be in the resort town of Whistler, a hundred miles north of Vancouver. Other towns will undoubtedly be interested.

The prospect of having casinos all over the province is not without danger, the greatest of which is how to keep organized crime from getting control of them.

Those in favor of legalized gambling usually point to Monte Carlo as a good example of how casinos should be operated. But there's no assurance that B.C. won't follow the example of Las Vegas where the mob is unquestionably in control.

The only way full-scale gambling can be kept honest is for the government to run the casinos, perhaps through a Crown corporation. A gaming commission overseeing casinos operated by private entrepreneurs won't do it.

If private enterprise is in control of casinos, the profits will only serve to line the pockets of their owners, and little of the loot will find its way into the tax base of the communities.

And that's where the rub will be. Totally committed to free enterprise, the Socreds will find it difficult to go into the casino business. They will be tempted into believing that they can confine their role to overseeing and controlling casinos, rather than operating them.

Letter — Taxpayers deserve apology

To the editor,

Cedarvale parents, whose request for school bus service to Terrace was turned down by the Terrace School Board, have asked for an apology, now that the board has "discovered" it had a half million dollar budget surplus last year.

It isn't only Cedarvale parents who deserve an apology. Terrace and Thornhill parents and taxpayers deserve an apology, too. In fact, they deserve more than an apology. They deserve a full disclosure of the facts surrounding the budget surplus and the dismissal of former secretary-treasurer Vern Rozee.

I attended the school board meeting on Oct. 14, to ask some questions. There were about 25 people present, many of them parents and taxpayers, and many of them with questions to ask about the budget surplus.

Even to one like myself, who has become used to the attitude taken by the Terrace School Board towards citizens who have the temerity to come to their meetings and ask questions, this meeting was exceptional, in terms of the hostile, overbearing, and even intimidating manner in which not only the public, but also the press were treated.

I believe that the continuation of an atmosphere of this kind, at a public meeting of an elected board, is an offense against the democratic process. People are not going to be willing to come and voice their concerns if they are not treated with elementary courtesy and respect.

There are serious questions as yet unanswered about the budget surplus.

The receipt of $593,542 from the Department of Indian Affairs in July was budgeted revenue for the fiscal year 1985-86. Recording this receipt in the year it was budgeted for should not, therefore, have created a huge surplus unless there were other items of revenue or underexpenditure that have not yet been adequately explained.

One such item was referred to by Mr. Rozee in a newspaper article of Oct. 3: $100,000 resulting from a decision not to hire additional teachers in January. But the whole story has certainly not come out. Nor do we know at this point if there was any good reason for the 14.5 percent residential property tax increase this year.

If Mr. Rozee had been fired for just cause, it seems to me that there would have been no requirement to give him an $88,000 "golden handshake". Messrs. Danny Sheridan and Dave Parker have said this was at their lawyers' recommendation. But the real question may be, what led their lawyers to make such a recommendation? What facts might have come out, under subpoena, if Mr. Rozee had taken the board to court?

The board's apparent stonewalling will not make these questions go away. I went to the Oct. 14 meeting uncertain as to whether I would again run for a seat on the Terrace School Board. My decision, made after that meeting, was to run again.

One thing I know I can do is bring a little courtesy and respect for the public to board meetings.

George Stanley,
Terrace, B.C.

Half-million $ question

To the editor,

The trustees of the incumbent Terrace School Board can expect to have a hot time of it if there is a public all-candidates meeting for Terrace School Board this year.

Deservedly so. The public will want to be told how more than half a million dollars in public funds could be overlooked in the financial statements.

The public will not sympathize with the timing of this oversight in a year that school taxes were raised. The public will want to know whether the dismissed secretary-treasurer was a scapegoat to deflect blame. After all, no one gets rewarded for incompetence... do they? Was there incompetence?

These are some of the questions one can hear the public wondering aloud about.

Perhaps the board has an explanation. I am wondering who is going to have a say in how this wayward half million is going to be spent. Do the school board trustees have a plan?

Francis Sabine,
Terrace, B.C.

talk of the town

The Terrace Review asked:
Has Terrace's anti-litter campaign made a visible difference in the community?

Stan Turner

I would say no, I don't think the project has proved to be as effective as it was supposed to be when first initiated. A lot more could be done. I don't feel that a few people picking up litter is enough. The city has got to get more involved and littering has to be controlled through greater policing. If someone drops litter it is not enough to have another individual walking behind to pick it up.

Brian Shaw

I always put my garbage in baskets or deposit litter in my pocket so it doesn't make much difference to me. I work in the bush for Skeena Cellulose and I don't throw out garbage and I don't think anyone should. It doesn't matter if the garbage can is there or not, people should make an effort to keep the town tidy. I'm not sure that the Terrace litter committee has made much of a difference, at least not that I've noticed.

Karel Trappl

I have seen the garbage barrels around Terrace, but I haven't really paid much attention to the difference between now and then, perhaps because this is a gradual change. I definitely think that the cleanup campaign is a beneficial addition to the community because it shows the pride that we have in Terrace.

Nancy Orr

I certainly notice a difference, especially along Eby and Walsh near the high school. The litter baskets seem to be being used and the streets are much cleaner. The Terrace Litter Cleanup Campaign has instituted a very good project.

Rachell D'Silva

Yes, I would say that there is quite a difference in the cleanliness of Terrace's streets.

Police report

by Carrie Olson

On Friday, Oct. 23 the Terrace RCMP charged an adult male with impaired driving and possession of hash.

The driver received these charges as a result of rolling his 1975 Dodge van on Old Lakelse Lake Road.

The reported damage to the van was $2000.00.

On Saturday, Oct. 25 the RCMP charged a Terrace man with impaired driving.

The driver was involved in a single vehicle accident when his automobile was turned over in a ditch.

No injuries were reported.

Education workshop held

TERRACE — Jeff Ballou, District Counsellor from North Vancouver, gave a recent workshop on a suicide prevention program that has been successfully implemented in North Vancouver Secondary Schools.

The workshop, held Oct. 10 at the Inn of the West, was one of a number of Special Education workshops attended by special education teachers and administrative staff, counsellors, principals and members of local service agencies.

School District 88 (Terrace) is examining the North Vancouver program with a view to developing a similar program within the Terrace area schools. The need for a suicide prevention program was recognized when Terrace was identified as one of the areas of the province with a higher than average suicide rate.

Local litter campaign participants congratulated

TERRACE — Two employees with Terrace and District Community Services have been recognized for their superb efforts in helping to keep the city tidy.

Alan Mather and Peter Nisyok were recently presented with a "small token of appreciation" from members of the Terrace Litter Cleanup Committee. The two workmen were hired in June and will carry on with their efforts through the winter months. They are in charge of emptying approximately 40 litter bins which have been placed at various sites throughout the city.

The two men work as a team and are also given the responsibility of picking up litter along their route Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. It takes them from about 8 a.m. to 12 noon to complete the task each day.

On behalf of the City of Terrace, Chamber of Commerce and the Litter Cleanup Committee, the workmen were presented with a letter of appreciation for "the good job they are doing". A lapel pin of Terrace's Kodie Kermode bear, plus Ronald McDonald scarves were also given to the two young men.

Representatives for the Litter Cleanup Committee said there are still about 10 more waste bins available for businesses to purchase if they are interested in having them slotted at locations around town. When an individual buys a bin, his name or that of the company is placed on a sign attached to the basket.

Malcolm Hilcove, member of the Litter Cleanup Committee, said he has noticed a difference resulting from introduction of the bins. They have had a positive effect in terms of tidier city streets. "But it is up to the people to decide" whether they think improvements are evident.

Mayor Jack Talstra said he is certain the project has been beneficial to Terrace. I think we have seen very definite improvements in the city. The program has helped to tidy up the community and has put people to work in useful endeavors. There have been comments made both to local aldermen and members of the cleanup committee indicating people believe the project has been useful.

Hilcove pointed out that a group of German tourists, who visited Terrace this summer, said the community was the cleanest town they had seen across the north from Prince George.

Chamber of Commerce representative Bobbie Phillips, said she believes the campaign has been effective. I feel Former Terrace ice hockey athlete Jeff Sharples joins the Detroit Red Wings.

Jeff Sharples likes national hockey action

Terrace's donation to the National Hockey League is enjoying his stay in the majors and has high hopes he'll remain there, and not be sent back to Portland Winterhawks for another year of junior hockey.

Defenceman Jeff Sharples, son of Cliff and Irene Sharples of our fair city, is one of eight rearguards currently on the Detroit Red Wings' roster. With this abundance of blueliners, 19-year-old Jeff is not dressing for every game because only six suit up for each outing.

Jeff had played three games as of last Friday. Statistic-wise, he has garnered one assist and spent two minutes in the penalty box.

"I'm getting my share of ice time in the games where I've dressed, so I can't complain about idleness," he told us prior to last Friday's game against St. Louis.

His point and penalty came against Calgary Flames on Oct. 18. Fortunately for Jeff's family and friends, that game was carried on Hockey Night in Canada and we saw him collect his first big league stats.

Jeff told us that the Wings will likely ship out a couple of defencemen very soon. He is in the position of having to go back to junior — he can't be sent down to the lower pro leagues like the American of International leagues.

"I'm not sure, but I think they can keep me for 10 games and still ship me back to Portland," he said. "After 10 they have to keep me, and with a season up here the chances of going back to junior for an over-age year are practically zero for next season."

After several years playing minor hockey away from home, Jeff says he's not homesick. "However, Steve (his apartment-sharing fellow Red Wing, forward Steve Chiasson) and I aren't the greatest cooks in the world. It sure would be nice to have Mom around to take care of the cooking angle."

As for Detroit — "It's not like walking down the streets of Terrace. We don't live in the best district by any means and there are several areas close by that we avoid completely."

The six-foot, 187-pounder, played all his minor hockey in Terrace and was an outstanding member of Terrace teams that won Pee wee, Bantam and Midget pro-

Finning Flyers of Terrace youth soccer's under-11 division, finished in first place during the regular season of their four-team section. In the playoffs, Finning lost out 3-2 to Northwest Sportsmen in the final.

Terrace takes Grade 8 volleyball championship

Skeena boys and Thornhill 'A' girls triumphed at the Oct. 18 Terrace Skeena Grade 8 boys' and girls' annual volleyball tournament.

On the six-team boys' side, competitors played three-team round-robin games with time limits. Then they advanced to crossover finals against the other division.

Semi-final action saw Skeena take Thornhill 15-9, 12-7, and Chandler Park edge Kitimat 15-12, 14-13.

In the championship game, it was Skeena over Chandler Park 14-16, 15-11, 15-0. The playoff for third and fourth saw Kitimat down Thornhill 15-9, 15-11. The other standings had Kitwanga fifth and Prince Rupert's Booth, sixth.

In the girls' modified double knockout series with nine teams taking part, Thornhill 'A' downed host Skeena Gold 15-13, 15-9 in the championship game. The playoff for third place saw Booth down Kitimat in a time-limit, total point series, 19-18.

Other standings on the girls' side had Kitwanga fourth, Kitimat fifth, Hazelton sixth, Chandler Park seventh, Skeena Purple eighth, and Thornhill 'B' ninth.

Athletes compete in tournament action

Junior high school teams from Thornhill and Prince Rupert's Booth, plus senior teams from Smithers and Terrace Caledonia, came out as winners in volleyball tournament action on the Oct. 18 weekend.

In Junior boys' action at Kitwanga, seven teams played round-robin to determine single elimination playoff positions. On 'A' side Thornhill won three and lost none, while Bulkley Valley was 2-and-1, Kitwanga 'A' 1-and-2, and Skeena 0-and-3. On 'B' side, Kitwanga 'B' was 2-and-0, while Houston was 1-and-1 and Nishga 0-and-2.

In the semi-finals, Thornhill beat Houston 15-2, 15-5, while Bulkley Valley took Kitwanga 'B' 15-5, 15-6. Kitwanga 'B' won the Consolation final 15-13, 15-11 over Houston.

Thornhill downed Bulkley Valley 15-3, 15-13 in the championship match.

In Junior Girls' at Hazelton, Rupert's Booth beat out Skeena in the best-of-three championship series. Scores were not available. Hazelton grabbed third place, followed by Kitwanga, Thornhill, Bulkley Valley and Nishga, in that order.

All the Senior action took place at Prince Rupert. In the four-team girls' section, Smithers beat out the host team in the final. Kitimat was third and Nishga fourth.

The three-team boys side was a double-knockout set-up, with Caledonia beating Rupert in the first series, then whipping Nishga 15-7, 15-4. Rupert also beat Nishga to set up a championship with Caledonia. The Terrace boys won 16-14, 10-15, 9-2.

Soccer reps run in rain

Skeena Junior High School's soccer team ran into steady rain when they hosted a three-team mini-tournament on Oct. 18. It didn't help matters for Skeena having to play two players short in both their matches.

Skeena opened by losing 10-3 to Kitimat's Mount Elizabeth. Then it was Kitimat and Prince Rupert's Booth playing to a 2-2 tie.

Skeena came close in the final game, but Booth won by a 7-6 score.

Meanwhile, in senior boys' action at Prince Rupert, the rain was even worse. They made an effort to play, but the rain increased and the field became unplayable. Coaches then decided to call the three-team series off.

Athletes perform

The weather for cross country runners at Kitwanga wasn't ideal on Oct. 18, but they struggled through with good performances.

For the Grade 8 boys, it was all-Terrace Skeena for the top three places, with David Shepherd, Chad Edmonds and David Edmonds, in that order.

Jenny Go of Smithers won the Grade 8 girls with Skeena's Cathy Bennett second and Smithers' Tara McDermitt third.

Nishga's David Schmelzell won the junior boys with Rupert's Joe Nelson second, and Nishga's Axel Alexcee third.

For senior boys it was Charles Nelson of Rupert, Jagroop Takmar of Houston and Tony Schimball of Houston, in that order.

Fastball for Terrace

17 players interested in forming a men's fastball league in Terrace next year, turned out for a recent meeting from which plans will be formulated for indoor workouts during the winter months.

Since slo-pitch softball flooded the community a few years back, fastball faded slowly away. Now, it seems, there's many players ready to arise and bring back the fast-pitch game.

Encouraged by the turnout and expressed interest shown by many more potential players unable to attend the meeting, organizer Clint Marshall said they'll attempt to set up weekly indoor workouts until the spring. An announcement concerning definite plans is forthcoming.

Marshall said they'll start looking into sponsorships, a league schedule and potential talent from outside Terrace, i.e. Kitimat, Thornhill etc.

Curlers to hold fun spiel

For business representatives

The Terrace Curling Club is going to thank local business people for donations and sponsorships over the years.

The Club has set up a special "Sponsors' Appreciation Bonspiel" for Dec. 6 and 7, and is inviting all those with past connections either financially or through prize donations to take part in this fun spiel.

Organizer Bob Park says the spiel includes a Saturday night dance with snacks served during the social event.

Games will be four ends, with each person on the team taking a turn at skipping. Businesses can enter complete teams or allow staff to enter individually.

Curling starts after store closing on Dec. 6 (about 7 p.m.), and continues right through until it ends some time Sunday.

Nov. 23 is the closing date for entries. You enter at the Curling Rink or by phoning the club at 635-5583. By the way, the spiel is free to all those eligible.

Police patrols planned

Terrace RCMP will be adding additional patrols for Hallowe'en night again this year. This means more police will be cruising the streets in cars. Foot patrols will also be out during the most active hours, to ensure the safety of local youngsters.

Parents are urged to accompany their children on their "trick or treat" routes or have youngsters outline the path they will be taking. Bright costumes help make pedestrians more visible to motorists, especially if it's raining.

Again face painting rather than masks, is sure to increase safety. Parents or guardians are asked to check their youngster's treats before the child eats them.

PARTY PLANNED

For the little ones, a Hallowe'en Hoot is being sponsored by Parks and Recreation in Terrace. The party is open to youngsters from Kindergarten to Grade 3. The event will be held on Friday, Oct. 31, between 3:45 p.m. and 5:15 p.m. at the Terrace Arena. Pumpkin carving will be the highlight along with other crafts. Parents are asked to register ahead. The cost is $2 per child.

PUMPKIN CONTEST

The Terrace Public Library is inviting youngsters to guess the weight of their pumpkin. The closest guess wins a prize. The draw is to be held on Friday, Oct. 31.

To all the little witches and goblins, and other creatures — have a safe Hallowe'en.

"Think safety" on Hallowe'en says local youngster Louis Pelletier. Hallowe'en is Friday Oct. 31. RCMP are asking motorists to keep an eye out for trick or treaters for a safe Hallowe'en. Daniele Berquist photo

Terrace RCMP report

TERRACE — Over the month of Sept. the Terrace detachment of the RCMP reported opening 886 files, which is a decrease of 83 files.

Crimes against persons are down to 23 from 29 last month with a clearance rate of 91 per cent. Property crimes dropped to 102 in comparison to 140 last month. This month

Break and Enter crimes made a tremendous drop from 21 last month to six this month.

In Sept. there were 89 traffic tickets issued when in August there were 159 issued, but violations are up to 218 compared to 177 in August. This is because of violations which were noted during routine roadblocks. There were 45 accidents for a increase of three.

Drug-related offences decreased from ten to six in this period, and there was a total of 165.75 hours of overtime at a cost of $1,837.43 to the municipality. Over the month there was a total of 93 voluntary hours for which no payment was claimed.

Throughout Sept.

many programs got underway with the beginning of school. One of these programs is the Block Parents Safety Group who work in cooperation with the RCMP to keep young children safe from harassment when travelling to and from school. These activities all stress a community co-operation and the common interest of public safety.

Beautification Society elects executive

TERRACE — The Terrace Beautification Society recently chose its executives in a meeting held on Tuesday Oct. 21.

by Philip Musselman

The society meeting was a very pleasing success according to George Clark, executive member of the group. "Eleven people attended the meeting, eleven people volunteered and received positions on the executive," said Clark. The meeting covered several possible projects including the reforestation of Lakelse and Keith Avenues. The society plans to plant trees along these areas and also along highway 16 wherever needed.

The beautification of Terrace is our goal, explained Clark, and I do not think that there is anyone in Terrace who cannot, in some way benefit from this goal. The Terrace Beautification Society will be holding meetings every two weeks, to get cost estimations and to develop ways of getting funds to achieve goals like the completion of the Arena Hill.

The next meeting will take place on Nov. 15 in the council chambers at 7:30 p.m. At this meeting, representatives from both the Ministry of Highways, and Canadian National Railway will be on hand to discuss the society's plans. The meeting will cover cost estimates, horticulture, and a variety of important issues that concern the community. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend the meeting.

Contest winners recognized

Bill Delaronde, deputy chief of the Thornhill Volunteer Fire Department, recently accompanied Brian Turner, winner of the Fire Chief for a Day contest, to McDonald's for breakfast. Delaronde represented the Thornhill detachment and Terrace fire chief Clifford Best accompanied Timothy Laurie, Terrace winner of the Fire Chief for a Day contest.

Timothy Laurie is the son of Tom and Anne Laurie of Terrace. Brian Turner is the son of Ralph and Ellanore Turner of Thornhill.

Fire Prevention Week, according to Terrace Fire Chief Clifford Best, generally went well; although a survey conducted by the Fire Department was somewhat disappointing. "We called several homes, randomly out of the phone book, and found that not a lot of them participated in the drill," Best commented. The nation-wide fire drill was staged to help families outline and follow safe exits from their homes. It is difficult to find out how many people participated in the drill but the Focker family of Terrace did. Members of the family who participated in the fire drill Oct. 9 were Karen (mother), Amanda, Julia, Cynthia and Andy.

NEWS RELEASE

Logging contract awarded to local Ski Corporation

Dennis Lissimore, President and Project Manager of Shames Mountain Ski Corporation and Earl Ellis, Acting Woodlands Manager for Skeena Cellulose Inc., finalize the signing of a major logging contract. Watching the proceedings are Dan Tuomi (left) Area Manager, South, and Terry Cook (second from right) Controller, Skeena Cellulose Inc.

Dennis Lissimore, President and Project Manager of Shames Mountain Ski Corporation, is pleased to announce the signing of a major logging contract with Skeena Cellulose Inc. The timber is located in the Shames River valley. Skeena Cellulose Inc. recognizes Shames Mountain Ski Corporation's long-term interest in the area and is pleased to support the establishment of this much needed regional downhill ski facility.

Revenue from the logging operation will be used by Shames Mountain Ski Corporation to offset the cost of new road construction, road upgrading, new bridge construction, parking lot construction, site preparation and utilities installation.

The Shames Mountain resort is situated approximately 90 minutes driving-time from Kitimat, 30 minutes driving-time from Terrace, on Highway 16 West. The project is scheduled to open in November 1987.

Skeena Cellulose Inc. operates an export sawmill and extensive woodlands operation based in Terrace and a major kraft pulp mill at Port Edward, near Prince Rupert.

Curling

Dates for all zone curling playdowns were announced this week. With Kitimat now out of the picture, Prince Rupert will host four series, while two go to Terrace and a pair to Smithers.

Prince Rupert hosts the district four junior ladies playdowns from Dec. 12 to 14. They'll also have the junior men's on the same dates.

On Dec. 13 and 14, Rupert plays host to the master's playdowns for curlers over 60. The men's playdowns go at Rupert from Jan. 9 to 11.

In addition to hosting the zone mixed on Dec. 12, 13 and 14, Terrace also has the zone ladies playoffs from Jan. 9 to 11.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of 17 teams will be in Terrace Feb. 5 to 8 for the Legion's regular provincial finals.

Playdowns at Smithers include senior ladies' from Jan. 17 to 19, and senior men over 50 from Jan. 16 to 18.

Arthritis information provided

TERRACE — The B.C. and Yukon Division Arthritis Therapy Van visited Terrace recently to provide treatment and advice to local residents. The van was located just outside of Mills Memorial Hospital on Oct. 21 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. The van provides therapy and information for residents of each community it visits. Therapy was provided on referral from a physician. Services included fitting people with comfortable shoes, taking measurements for special insoles for shoes, giving advice, supplying splints, etc. The van was staffed by Angela Fairleigh of the Vancouver Arthritis Centre.

City water spoiled

Local residents were told to boil their drinking water after a report that the water supply was contaminated. The report came from a water sample taken from the city's water supply. The water was found to contain a high level of bacteria. The city has since taken steps to ensure that the water is safe to drink.

Trustees object to booklet

Four trustees of the Terrace Community Centre have objected to a booklet titled 'The Future of Terrace'. The trustees feel that the booklet is biased and does not accurately represent the community.

Residents want action

The Terrace community is calling for action on a number of issues. Residents are concerned about the state of the city's infrastructure, including roads and bridges. They are also concerned about the quality of the city's services, including police and fire departments.

Terrace fire report

TERRACE — For the month of Sept. the fire dept. responded to 28 incidents, of these incidents 10 were actual fires. There were 5 residential, single family fires; 1 residential, multi-family fires, and 4 outside area fires.

The sources of these fires were as follows: 2 heating equipment, 1 cooking equipment, 1 smoker's materials, 1 electrical appliance, 1 open flame, 1 exposure to other property, and 3 other types of incidents. Four fires were caused by incendiary or "set" fires, 2 by misuse of material ignited, 1 by mechanical or electrical failure, 2 by human failing, and 1 by other causes. Damages for the month are approximately $800 and the value of the property involved was estimated at $171,000.

Also, over the month the fire department was involved in several activities including: a training session on the Scott Self Contained Breathing Apparatus, a Provincial Emergency Test, a Fire Safety lecture, helping to mark bikes for the RCMP's Anti-bike Theft Program, and assisting the Thornhill fire dept. with the fire on the old Skeena River bridge.

Man-Size Sponge

One species of volcano sponge in McMurdo Sound in Antarctica is large enough for a diver to climb into its cone, says National Geographic.

Leona Klein, manager of the Terrace branch of Rudy's Boots and Shoes, welcomes residents to come in and browse at the new shop on Lakelse Avenue. The store is open for its fourth week and has taken over the building that was formerly used by Al Purschke, who retired after running Al's Shoes for 22 years in Terrace.

Construction goes ahead

TERRACE — If the mild fall weather holds out workmen at the new RCMP building construction site are expected to complete the structure by April, 1987.

superintendent for Hegge Construction, (the contractor on the site) said about one third of the building is finished to date. The walls, which are made of cement blocks, are currently being put up. Completion of this aspect of the job depends entirely on the weather, Lewis said.

If the weather is bad, the block can't be put in place. "Cold weather always slows down construction," Lewis explained. However if the recent mild temperatures continue, "we're looking at an April completion," Lewis said.

There are currently 17 to 18 men employed on the RCMP building site. Cement block layers, carpenters, laborers, electricians, plumbers plus steel and iron workers are on the job. The workmen returned to the building site Sept. 15 after a union management dispute was settled. If the weather holds for another couple of weeks, we'll be in good shape, Lewis said.

The cement floor for the building was poured recently. Workmen needed, and were fortunate enough, to get, good weather at the appropriate time for completion of the aspect of the job. "If we hadn't got the floor done we would be almost at a standstill", Lewis noted. Because the floor is finished, it allows us to carry on with other aspects of the project, he added.

During the labor dispute required supplies for the job were safely stored and Lewis expects no delays as a result of back orders for materials. We're "pretty well on schedule," Lewis said.

There's no better time to leave town.

YOUNG DRACULA

Written by Tim Kelly

TERRACE LITTLE THEATRE, in cooperation with the TERRACE COMMUNITY BAND and THEATRE ALIVE, presents "YOUNG DRACULA—

Three performances on the stage of the R.E.M. LEE THEATRE—November 7 at 8 p.m./November 8 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Tickets available at CARTER'S JEWELERS and SIGHT & SOUND.

Adults $5 performance/Children (12 and under), Seniors $4 performance

The Terrace and District Credit Union held an "Open House" recently. Local residents were invited to visit the facility to get a free cup of coffee and talk to the directors. In all over 144 people visited the Credit Union to question the directors and according to Dennis Brewer, Terrace general manager, the event was so successful that the Credit Union will attempt to hold an Open House regularly on Saturdays.

Performer graces REM Lee stage

TERRACE — Home remedy for nuclear war? Does it work? Singer-songwriter Bob Bossin claims the elixir is "guaranteed to prevent nuclear war or your money back." Step right up and try Bossin's Home Remedy for Nuclear War.

by Daniele Berquist

A one man musical, two part comedy show directed at the true secret of the atomic age "that we have the power to stop this madness", stated Bossin.

The show opened with one of Bossin's own lullabies; the ultimate Deterrent:

*Hush now little baby,
Sandman is drawing near
No one's going to hurt you
Daddy will be right here.*

Bossin traced the evolution of weapons from the crossbow to Star Wars where he pointed out how each era has claimed the new weapons would make war obsolete. Bossin suggested from his sketch, "What can one woman do", that maybe one woman can't do much, but a group of women could.

During the show a Russian character pointed out why the Soviet Union doesn't want to invade Canada or the U.S. "If all the world was socialist," he stated, "where would we get our wheat?"

Bossin convinced his audience through song and play acting that people have the power to stop the madness of nuclear war. "We're in a dangerous world situation and this is serious," pointed out Bossin.

The show was staged recently at the REM Lee Theatre, sponsored by the Terrace and District Arts Council. The entertainer received a standing ovation during his performance for his efforts towards ending the prospects of nuclear war.

Bossin is a well known Canadian folk singer who recently toured the USSR with the group Stringband.

Small Business Week draws interested crowd

TERRACE — Recently, with the celebration of Small Business Week a seminar covering the starting up and the running of small businesses were held at the Inn of the West on Tuesday Oct. 21.

by Phillip Musselman

"We were very happy about the seminar," said Phil Hartl, Branch Manager of the Terrace Branch of the Federal Business Development Bank. The attendance for the seminar exceeded 44 people, who listened attentively to the speakers; John Boshier from the Prince George Branch of F.B.D.B., Candice Barker from the Canada Employment Centre, Paul Williams from the Terrace F.B.D.B., and Audun Birkedal from the Northwest Community College. The gathering included refreshments and lasted from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

An intensive question period after the class dealt with aspects of the Federal Business Development Bank and government assistance programs. The bank will be holding a series of seminars in Nov. at a cost of $40 for three hours or $65 for six hours. These gatherings are targeted toward small business and provide a hands-on training for some book-keeping procedures. On Nov. 3, 4, and 5 there will be a three day computer accounting seminar, the cost for this special service is $150. On Nov. 6 there will be a one hour course on business cash flow at a cost of $25 to the public.

All of the above services are co-sponsored by the Northwest Community College, where they will be held.

Inspectors report

TERRACE — Over the month of Sept. no dwelling unit permits were issued. There were 5 permits issued for alterations at a value of $92,600, 2 garage/car port permits at a value of $7,500, 18 miscellaneous permits at a $18,800 value, 6 commercial permits at $13,100, no industrial permits, and 1 institutional permit which is valued at $108,000. This brings a total of 32 permits at a total estimated value of $240,000.

This year to date there have been 150 permits issued at a value of $4,347,792, which is an increase of over $2,000,000 over last year at this time.

Education continues in the home

TERRACE —If your child is sick at home or in the hospital what happens to his/her education? For a number of years School District 88 has been offering a service funded by the Ministry of Education through the Special Services Branch entitled "Hospital/Homebound Program".

This service provided by the Terrace school district assures that your child will continue to receive the attention of a teacher while he or she is in hospital or sick at home.

Coordinating and carrying out this service in the Terrace area is Sue Springer who works the equivalent of one day a week on the program. "My pupils range from Grade 1 to Grade 12 and may be absent from school for a couple of days or more", stated Springer, who has been teaching homebound or hospitalized children for the past five years. Often the kitchen table or bedside become the usual places for study. "Once the students realize that I will be showing up on a regular basis, they do their homework", stated Springer.

"I sometimes bring tape recorders, filmstrips, projectors", whatever is practical to help teach the student. Springer commented that the aim of the program is toward the eventual return of the pupils to the classroom.

Principals, teachers and parents usually contact Springer at Cassie Hall Elementary, her home base, and leave the child's name, grade and school. Regular teachers then assign a unit or the week's work in the core subject areas to Springer who carries her work to homebound students. "Teachers are very receptive and helpful in providing research material and advice on how to best teach the course", stated Springer. The average yearly caseload for the program is 50 students. The number of pupils she works with at any one time varies considerably depending on the general health of the school population.

Springer graduated from UBC with a degree in mathematics and physical education/guidance. In 1970 she began teaching in Kelowna, moved to Terrace in 1975 and has held a number of teaching positions in the school district.

Springer's other activities include a part-time teaching assignment at Caledonia and teaching fitness and music. Other recreational pursuits that she, her husband and children participate in are hiking, camping, canoeing, reading and jogging.

Terrace resident, Rosemarie Elliott was concerned about her son's education and progress at school during his recuperation from surgery. As a parent Rosemarie is appreciative of the effort and time of the hospital/homebound teacher, Sue Springer. "I think it's great that Marc has the opportunity to continue his class work until he's ready to go back to school" added Elliott.

Sue Springer, hospital/homebound teacher for School District 88 has been employed in the program for the Terrace area over the past five years.

Reel World rolls

TERRACE — On Thursday, Oct. 23 the Reel World Film Society showed two short films in the Lecture Theatre at Caledonia Senior Secondary School.

by Andrea Deakin, Terrace contributor

"Werner Herzog Eats His Shoe" was a short documentary depicting the completion of a bet. Werner Herzog had promised to eat his shoe and eat it he did. The film documented the preparation, cooking and consumption interlaced with some comment from Herzog. It was an "in" joke.

Much more interesting was "Garlic is as Good as Ten Mothers", a paean in praise of the vegetable which was stimulating, amusing and pictorially very attractive.

Next day I went out and bought a clove, instead of my powdered standby, I even chopped it and used it, not perhaps with the élan of the cooks at the garlic festival — but with reasonable success. I overcame my anglo-saxon distrust! The vivacity and lively strength of the film made it a stimulating experience — like garlic itself.

The next showing of the Reel World Film Society will be on Oct. 30 when the film will be "Demon Pond" from Japan. Demon princesses, magic and suspense performed in the tradition of Kabuki theatre. The film will be shown at the Lecture Theatre at Caledonia Senior Secondary at 7:30 p.m.

Riverboat Days full steam ahead

Terrace - A new executive has been formed to oversee the 1987 Terrace Riverboat Days celebrations which will run from July 25 to Aug. 3, 1987.

They are: Dave Mallett, president; Joan Cox, vice-president; Gayle Holtom, treasurer; Barb Ziraldo, secretary; Bruce Graydon, director; Len Jarvis, director; Mary Jane Wegner, director; Leo Casavant, director; Marilyn Anderson, director and Daisy McAlpine.

This executive will plan scheduling, publicity and overall themes for the fifth annual summer event which will be closely tied to Terrace's Diamond Jubilee.

The committee does not sponsor any events on its own and relies totally on service clubs, hotels and merchants and other sports and volunteer organizations to provide the activities to be scheduled during the 10 days.

Several organizations have already made commitments toward next year's celebrations. Royal Canadian Legion Branch 13, Terrace-Parade; Terrace Rod and Gun Club Outhouse Races; Kinettes - Children's Carnival; Kinsmen - Tavern and Casino and Centennial Lions - Second Annual Family Fun Day - Kermodie Canoe Regatta.

The Chamber of Commerce has supported the events through this summer tourist counsellors and manager, Bobbie Phillips. The 635-2063 number used by the Riverboat committee belongs to the chamber and provides continuity which would not otherwise be available in a volunteer society.

There are probably many other groups planning to participate in the 1987 Riverboat Days but if the committee is not informed, the event cannot be included in the overall planning and publicity. Therefore, the executive request that residents contact them at P.O. Box 248, Terrace, B.C., V8G 4A6 or phone 635-2063 or Joan at 635-5633.

Gladys Oliver, (left) member of the board of directors for Terraceview Lodge, holds the $11,141.62 cheque received from the Terrace Rotary Club for purchase of a computer. Kathleen Delgatty, Terraceview administrator, displays the plaque the Lodge presented to the Rotary Club in appreciation for the donated funding.

Rotary purchases computer system for Terraceview Lodge

Terrace - Members of the local Rotary Club have provided representatives at Terraceview Lodge with over $11,000 so operations at the institution can be streamlined and more attention directed towards patient care.

Phil Hartl, chairman of the projects committee for the Terrace Rotary Club, said a total of $11,141.62 was presented to Terraceview Lodge officials to assist them in purchasing a micro computer system. The computer will enable staff members at Terraceview to complete numerous administrative jobs, with the aid of the computer, that are currently being done by hand. Hartl explained that administrative duties involving payroll data, trust fund entries and required reports to the Ministry of Health will be speeded up through use of the computer which will allow staff members to devote more of their time to patient care. It streamlines the operation, Hartl explained.

Funds provided by the Rotary Club cover cost of the micro computer plus the hardware and one piece of furniture required for the computer system. Administrative staff at Terraceview will pay for additional costs such as the purchase of an accounting, payroll and trust account software package. Terraceview will also assume responsibility for the training of staff on the computer.

The money provided by the Rotary Club is raised through various activities throughout the year with the primary allotment of funds procured from the Rotary Club T.V. auction which is held annually. A number of business representatives donate items which are auctioned on television to interested buyers.

The funds raised through the promotional event are donated to worthwhile community groups. Hartl said requests for funds are received by the Rotary Club and it is the representatives on the projects committee who analyse the proposals and determine whether aims of the ventures in question concur with the Rotary ideals. The committee then makes a recommendation to the executive of the Rotary Club and if they approve of the decision it is brought before the membership and voted on.

To determine whether Terraceview Lodge's request had merit, mem-

Cats, dogs adopted

TERRACE — In Terrace during the month of Sept. there were 76 impounded animals of which 13 were released by the owner. Twenty of these animals were released through adoption, but 46 had to be destroyed. Of the destroyed animals ten were dogs and 36 were cats.

This year to date there have been 784 impounded animals, 84 have been released by the owner, 179 were released for adoption, 96 dogs were destroyed, and 380 cats were destroyed.

For the month there were $690.50 in impound fees, $173 in licence fees, and $23 in destruction fees. The month end total was $886.50.

terraceview could apply for funds, either directly or indirectly to finance the computer system. The Rotary executive felt Terraceview Lodge was a well run institution and the savings in time, afforded by the computer, would make the overall operation even more efficient. Hartl said Ministry of Health representatives have expressed a "high opinion" of the Terraceview Lodge.

He explained that the Ministry oversees several hundred similar institutions and Terraceview ranks as one of the best run facilities.

Hartl said he believes Terraceview "provides a real need for intermediate care" in the community. Funds for the computer system was one of our major projects for this year, Hartl explained. The other was the installation of a helipad at Mills Memorial Hospital. The site enables helicopter operators to bring patients in to the hospital from outlying areas.

Committee holds meeting

TERRACE —The Terrace Cleanup Committee recently met at McDonald's to discuss new projects and finalize details of current plans regarding the cleanup campaign.

The group talked about plans to keep up public awareness over the winter months.

The committee has reached a position where the Terrace Beautification Society will be more involved with public issues in order to keep plans going at a healthy pace.

The next meeting will be held at 12 p.m. on Nov. 7 and everyone is welcome. The meetings are held downstairs in McDonald's Restaurant.

confirm fears expressed by New Democrat campaigners that Hayes and Sebastian would attract voters who might otherwise be inclined to favor the NDP. Although it cannot be assumed that all the votes would have gone to Howard, the figures show that Parker won by less than a majority. Of the 20,712 registered voters in the riding, 70.36 turned out to cast ballots in the election. The participation was down seven percent compared to the 1983 election but incrementally higher than any other previous election. The communities of Terrace, Thornhill, Kitimat and Smithers accounted for about 80 percent of the voting.

One remarkable feature in the election figures is a rather dramatic decline in the number of registered voters in Skeena, from 24,860 in 1983 to 20,712 for this year. Although there have been strong criticisms of the last provincial enumeration, it seems unlikely that more than 4,000 eligible voters could have been missed, and a large part of those would have appeared as Section 80 voters. The results of the 1986 census will not be final for some time, but appears safe to assume that Skeena has experienced at least a 10 percent population shrinkage over the past three years.

Allan Hassel, local artist and teacher, hosted a premiere showing of his artwork on Oct. 17 at the Northern Lights Studio. His paintings will be on display in the gallery until the end of the month.

I'm not against gambling. There is merit in trying to keep in this province the millions of dollars spent every year in Reno and Las Vegas by British Columbians.

It is also quite possible that a lot of Americans will come here in search of the elusive jackpot because they won't have to pay tax on their winnings.

But it would be foolhardy for the government to rush into uncharted terrain before examining all possible pitfalls. I don't think the premier has done that. And if he says it will be just like Monte Carlo, we should ask him what assurance we've got that it won't be like Vegas.

In the final analysis, the possible benefits might not be worth the gamble.

don't know the carrying capacity of the lake, any of the thresholds; we need more technical and scientific information."

The hearing will continue tonight, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the Thornhill Community Centre, but only written submissions will be accepted. It is expected that this will be the final session of the public hearing process.

Nurses to vote on contract proposal

The Northwest association executives of the B.C. Nurses Union assembled in downtown Terrace recently before leading a rally at Mills Memorial Hospital. The demonstration was part of a continuing protest by the BCNU over lack of progress in contract negotiations. On the evening after the rally, the mediator in the dispute filed a contract proposal. BCNU members will vote on the proposal Nov. 6.

Young Dracula

A chorus of local talent performs in the play Young Dracula. The gypsy chorus rehearses the song of the gypsies in preparation for upcoming shows on Nov. 7 and 8 at the REM Lee Theatre. Tickets are available at Carter's Jewellers and Sight and Sound.

Val George prepares to sing his solo part in the play Young Dracula. George is among about 17 Terrace residents who perform as the gypsy chorus in the Terrace Little Theatre production. The play will take place on Nov. 7 and 8 at the REM Lee Theatre.

In Terrace Council

TERRACE — Money available to the municipality of Terrace through the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program (RRAP) has been increased for the second time this year. The RRAP fund is intended to provide grants and low-cost loans for home owners who need financial assistance to make critical repairs to their dwellings.

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC), the federal agency that administers RRAP, originally set Terrace's 1986 allocation at $11,000, a dramatic drop from more than $90,000 received in 1985. Following strong objections from the city government, CMHC increased the level to $23,000. In a letter received by Terrace council at the Oct. 27 meeting, George Fessenden, manager of CMHC's Prince George office, announced a further boost of $15,000, bringing the total to $38,000.

Mayor Jack Talstra told council that the CMHC Board of Directors, a diverse group of people from every region of Canada, visited Terrace in late September and were suitably impressed with the community. Fessenden's letter states that the RRAP increase is a direct consequence of a request made to the board chairman during that visit.

Talstra pointed out, however, it is unlikely that available RRAP funds will meet local demand, and Ald. George Clark speculated that there may have been a strategy involved on the part of CMHC. "First you cut the funding from $90,000 to $11,000, then you increase it to $38,000 and everyone's happy," Clark mused.

In a letter to Terrace council, the board

Labour council begins fourth decade

TERRACE — The Kitimat-Terrace and District Labour Council will celebrate its thirtieth anniversary this weekend with a day-long symposium and a pot luck dinner. The topic of the symposium will be the relationship of labour to municipal affairs; discussion begins at 1 p.m. Nov. 1 in the Carpenters' Hall at 3312 Sparks St.

The dinner will begin at 6 p.m. in the Thornhill Community Centre, and it is to be followed by a dance featuring live music by a group from Chile.

members of Project R.A.F.T. (Responsible Action for Teens) have requested the city's help in establishing an administrative office and drop-in counselling center for local youth. The letter indicates that the organization is presently operating three evening programs a week in St. Matthew's Anglican Church hall and two of the local schools, but administrative problems are occurring due to lack of a central office.

Terrace and District Community Services, the letter states, has donated a modular building to the project, and the letter went on to request that the city-owned property on Davis St. be made available as a location. The letter also requested that sewer and water connections be made free of charge.

Thirteen ridings await final tally

The percentage of popular support for the Social Credit Party was virtually unchanged in comparison to the 1983 election, staying at 49.7 percent. The New Democratic Party, however, lost 2.8 percent to finish with 42.2 percent. The Liberals picked up two percent, apparently at the expense of the NDP, and on a provincial scale the Progressive Conservative showing was insignificant. Socreds will be occupying 49 of the 69 seats in the legislature, by unofficial figures, giving them a majority of 71 percent in the House on the strength of a 49.7 percent popular vote, the highest margin of over-representation since the NDP landslide in 1972 when 40 percent of voters elected 80 percent of the legislature.

Although the overall results of the election were not surprising, a close examination of voting figures reveals that ridings which returned the same party as in the 1983 election did so by much narrower majorities in many cases; in 13 ridings the count was so close that no official winner can be declared until the Section 80 ballots are added up. Of the ridings still in question, 11 are tentatively held by Social Credit and two by the NDP.

TERRACEVIEW LODGE NEEDS YOU!!

We've got our priorities straight and we're in the Christmas spirit! Everyone talks about the real meaning of Christmas and every year we make a resolution to make NEXT Christmas less commercial.

The Terraceview Lodge Christmas Stocking Fund is a perfect opportunity to pull the community together and fill one giant stocking for the pioneers of this community.

WE'RE EXCITED !! And we know that what we believe about this community is true - we're committed, progressive, caring and we love to have fun doing something together so - here's the plan:

1. Each week (cut off 12:00 noon Fridays) starting October, 29, 1986 donations are gratefully accepted at Terraceview Lodge, Ev's Men's Wear, and Northern Drugs Pharmacy.
2. The names of those contributing and the amount (people may wish to remain anonymous) will be published in the Terrace Review until December 24, 1986. It's our way of saying thank you! Watch the count go up!
3. Envelopes will be provided in all locations.
